

My Dream for a healthy Planet.

My name is satya and I am ^{seven} years old. I live in Kodaikandal, Tamil Nadu. Earth is a beautiful planet and we should take care of it. Living on a hill, I enjoy seeing nature all around me. I dream of a clean beautiful planet for the future.

In my dream planet, everyone wakes up to see the Sun rising, the trees rustling, the birds chirping, the wind blowing, the flowers blooming, the leaves singing, the bees buzzing and fruits falling. We all wake up to the sounds of nature, a sweet melody. It's a new, fresh and clean day every day.

Now as we cook our meals, our children help us by bringing organic produce from the garden. We don't spray pesticide in our gardens. We make our meals without too much oil, salt, spice and sugar. In our gardens, we grow radish, carrot, brinjal and peas. All families enjoy a healthy and leisurely breakfast, listening to the sounds of nature.

As people get ready for work, they don't use vehicles that pollute the air. Instead, they walk or cycle. The roads are clean and trash is only inside the bin. No one is honking and people are cooperative.

With trees growing on both sides of the road, going to work is a pleasant experience.

Children at school learn about 'our planet and how to save it.

They learn to not throw trash and pick up any trash that they find. They learn to reduce, reuse, recycle, and refuse plastic.

Children are taught to tend to school gardens. Overall, children are taught to be kind to our planet.

As people come home, they spend a lot of time with their families. Everyone takes care of their pets and parents spend time with their children.

Families take a walk with their pets and enjoy the setting sun. Evenings are peaceful, calm, and enjoyable.

After coming home from a peaceful walk people enjoy watching a starry sky. Children enjoy pointing out the Orion or the Big Dipper. In my dream planet the Skies are clear because there is no light pollution or air pollution. People enjoy watching a starry sky before going to bed. It is a special feeling.

In my dream planet, everybody is kind to each other.

Everyone has food to eat and a roof to live under. There are no homeless animals, they all have a shed or a house. Nobody kills each other, there is no war. There is no jail as there is no crime.

The world is a safe place.

without violence. When I hear about global warming and climate change, I have a fear that ^{we} will all start dying very soon. If things continue this way, then life will become tougher for people, animals and all creatures. My family has decided to save our Earth by doing little things like not sending any trash to landfills. We can all do little things to save our Mother Earth.
